Description

---

Lucrezia Soft is a range of sofas defined by generous padding and rounded forms. The many elements making up the series of linear and modular sofas, available in two depths and multiple sizes, come in two versions. The first offers a plain seat cushion with a band and piping, the second a seat cushion with capitonné stitching. Both offer two options as regards the back cushions: a more compact version with lumbar support, for more restrained, formal seating arrangement; and a softer version with down feather cushions, for a more comfortable, laid back look. The upholstery, in fabric or leather, is enriched by refined “haute couture” detailing: faux leather profiles for the fabric versions and refined “profile” stitching for the leather ones. The Lucrezia Soft version with plain seat cushions may also be made to measure. All the elements may be customised in terms of width and depth, while preserving the product’s formal and comfort-related qualities.
